Besides the several thousand and being spent on the new City Park there is a bigger and better line of city improvements just about ready to be constructed—The sewage system and the water purification plant and the new electric pump station and engine, all totaling a sum of $100,000.00, to make a bigger and better Hamlin. It is such enterprises as this that go to make any little city a fit place in which to reside. Hamlin is not only providing for the material things but also for the educational as well. Recently our city voted to raise the School Tax to the limit in order to have a full nine month term of first class school. Later an additional room and equipment will be arranged for. Hamlin has her Sunday Schools and churches and a big hearted, fine spirited citizenship. All these facts, along with the fine farming lands that makes this a thriving agricultural section is enough to bring and hold the best class of citizenship in our midst.

Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, candidate for reelection to Congress, was right on the dot of 4 p.m. with his loud speaker and selected the front of the Bryant-Link store for his forum. Mr. Blanton was introduced by Mr. W. C. Russell, in a very appropriate and creditable manner. Congressman is fresh from the long grinds of congressional work and going immediately into the race for re-election, and speaking hard and fast, showed strain on his face and voice. He pitched into his speech in his usual vigorous manner and the large crowd present gave close and steady attention. One very noticeable feature of Mr. Blanton's talk was his freedom from personal attack, and there was present a milder tone towards those who differ with him. He mentioned the National Security Act and said that the Congress had done its part toward old people and it was up to the states to make the best of the federal offer. He said that if the people of Texas were not pleased, to hold their state representatives and senators responsible. In all the Blanton speech was perhaps the most pleasing to Hamlin people that he has ever delivered here.

Hamlin City Council agreed to place a caliche base road from the Hamlin-Aspermont highway east to the North Cemetery, located a mile north of the Katy Railroad. Jack A. Harden Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Harden Sr., was discharged from the U. S. Naval Personnel Separation Center at Norfolk, Oklahoma. Jessie Myers, outstanding cowgirl sponsor of the Hamlin community at regional rodeos, added other laurels to her winnings last week end when she took first place in the girls' flag race at the ninth annual Coleman Rodeo. First 1946 maize came in to the Hamlin market this week and brought $3.18 on the local market. Hamlin's phenomenal growth of the past few years has outstripped her water supply capacity—and the City Council cannot do much about it right now. Materials for adequate facilities are just not available right at the present. W. R. Terry assumed management of the Mid-West Cooperative Oil Mill. He succeeds T. H. Hughston who had been manager since last fall. Turning a worn collar may be all a man's shirt needs to help it give extra months of active service, says Hannah Nabors, County Home Demonstration Agent. Mrs. Carl Greenway, owner of the Hamlin Flower Shop, last week returned from Houston, where she attended the recent three-day meeting of the Texas State Florists Association.

Lee Hastings, member of the Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department, left Sunday for College Station, where he is attending the annual fireman's training school. Two Hamlin doctors, E. D. Perrin and E. J. Hawkins, were among many West Texas doctors who closed shop last Wednesday and participated in a one-day post-graduate clinic at the Abilene

Mrs. Billy Armstrong, the former Betty Jean Bass of Hamlin, has been nominated as a candidate for a stellar role in a forthcoming film, "The Navy Wife." Probably 90 per cent of Jones County cotton and wheat farmers were expected to be signed up for participation in the soil bank by the signing deadline, according to officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. No cause has been determined for the $40,000 fire that practically destroyed the gin plant of the Producers Cooperative Gin. Damage was estimated by Bill Smith of Abilene, owner. Fire Marshall, T. W. (Mickey) McGuire, declared after several days of investigation, that several possible causes have been advanced, but that evidence so far shows no definite origin of the fire.

THE HAMLIN HERALD
AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Washington, D. C. — Military preparedness and military operations are costly under all circumstances. It is tempting to say that they are necessarily costly. Waste and extravagance are built into most all Government activities, and more especially into military expenditures. Actually, there are obvious reasons for this being true. Probably one of the principal reasons is the fact that expenditures of military funds, and particularly purchase of equipment supplies and all material, is necessarily made by those in the military not particularly trained to watch cost. It is a natural and normal situation even in peacetime, much less under the pressure of wartime. Our civilian economy is not at all without fault. All sorts of pressure and influences are brought to bear to oversell and overcharge the military. Many people write, urging that the expenditures of Government be reduced. Certainly they should be. On the other hand, considering the fact that upwards of 60 percent of all expenditures go into some feature of "national defense," this, of course, is the place where reductions must be made if appreciable savings are to be seen by the taxpayer. It is a little strange, the number of programs of one sort and another claimed by their sponsors and supporters to be a part of our "national defense." It takes a Russian Sputnik or a situation in Cuba or Laos to spur these people on to extravagant insistence that every pet program and project is essential to "national defense."

The president has ordered the closing of 73 military bases, 52 here in the United States and the remainder overseas. The purpose of some of these military installations has been long outmoded, and everyone knows it. They have not been closed sooner because of the great hue and cry which arises from the economic interest of those affected. This is just one example of many as to the reason why our military costs continue. This is a part of our free enterprise system. We would not change it. Soviet Russia does not have to worry about this sort of thing. The government owns the economy and people have nothing to do with it. The Kennedy administration intends to shut down many more outmoded military bases and plow back the savings of

NEINDA PHILOSOPHER GLAD TO LEARN CONGRESS, LIKE HIM KNOWS HOW TO RAISE DEBT LIMIT

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route 1 discusses finances this week, personal and national. Dear editor: There are many things I don't understand about Washington, and I guess this is balanced out by the fact there are many things Washington doesn't understand about me, but when it comes to financial matters, Washington is pretty much in step with the rest of the country. I know it's customary to complain, if not yell and scream, about the amount of money Washington spends, but when you get right down to it, Washington pretty well reflects the rest of us. For example, I was trying to scrape up enough money to buy a new picture tube for my television set—I could get along without television, everybody did fifteen years ago, but who does?—and it was straining my budget and to rest my mind and clear my head for a proper decision on this matter I picked up a newspaper and ran across an article that made my decision easy. According to it, Congress has a permanent debt ceiling for the country. Back in 1954, Congress decided unlimited wild spending had to be curbed, a line had to be drawn, and since then it's been against the law for the national government to get further into debt than 285 billion dollars. But along about this time every year Congress looks up and discovers a picture tube, so to speak, has blown out and it's going to take some extra money to run the country. So last week, as it has done every year since 1954, Congress temporarily raised the debt limit, this time by 13 billion. Understand, the permanent ceiling of 285 still stands, this is just a temporary measure to get by on this year, and it's still against the law, the permanent one, that is, to go beyond the 1954 figure. This is what I'm talking about. How could me and Congress know that my picture tube was going to burn out or that 15-million-dollar missile was going to fizzle? We've got to be economy-minded if this country, including this Johnson grass farm, is going to survive, but an emergency is an emergency. Everybody ought to have a permanent debt ceiling, but if he's going to let it stand in the way of national defense and good television reception, he's out of touch with me and Congress and a good many of the rest of you. Yours faithfully, J. A.

HIGH SCHOOL BANDS OVER STATE INVITED TO STATE FAIR

DALLAS — Every high school band in Texas is being invited to attend the State Fair of Texas and participate in the Fair's big 1961 "Exposition of Music." The State Fair is endeavoring to make the 1961 exposition a truly musical sixteen days and a memorable experience for the bands who are able to take part. Bands that attend the Fair will have concerts scheduled for them on the days they are present, and will be invited to march in the spectacular illuminated "Torchlight Parade of Music" which will take place on the fairgrounds each evening at 8:45 p.m. All members of the bands participating in the "Exposition of Music" will be admitted to the fairgrounds free. High school bands throughout the state have been sent invitations to attend the Fair by James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager. Bands that have not received invitations either through their directors or school superintendents are invited to contact the State Fair. So that there will be a balance in the number of bands attending the Fair each day, bands are requested to specify a choice of three days that they would like to attend. Dates of the 1961 State Fair are Oct. 7-22. Many bands from throughout the state will participate in the annual Texas Music Festival co-sponsored by the Fair and the Texas Music Educators Association in the Cotton Bowl on Oct. 10. East Texas Day on Oct. 17 will also attract numerous bands from that area of the state. A folder listing highlights of the 1961 State Fair "Exposition of Music" is now available and copies can be obtained by writing Publicity Department, State Fair of Texas, Dallas 26.

How about a Fair Break for Railroads?

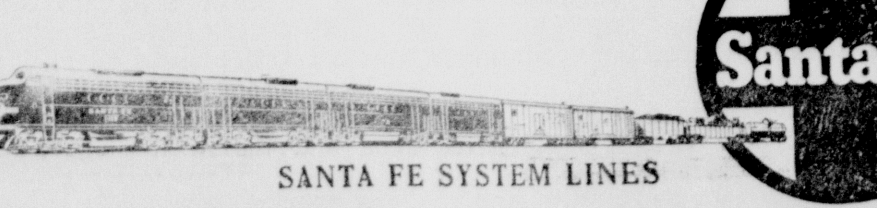

we're asking your support for equal treatment by government of all carriers, including the railroads

The Association of American Railroads has drawn up a document called "Magna Carta for Transportation."

We're asking for public support of this common-sense statement on public transportation policy, hoping citizens will recognize that an entire industry that serves them is being deprived of its natural rights—and will want to help.

What to do? Ask your congressman to help restore to the railroads these "four freedoms":

- Freedom from discriminatory regulation
- Freedom from discriminatory taxation
- Freedom from subsidized competition
- Freedom to provide a diversified transportation service

More rain this week which reminds us of the song, "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," and we are very sure God runs this universe much better than anyone else could and we shall trust him to know what is best for us, always.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. McKee spent the week end in Oklahoma City, Okla., with their daughter, Mrs. Floyd Clein, her husband and three sons.

The Clyde Pritchards visited Mrs. Bill Pritchard and Mrs. Marion Amerson both Tuesday and Friday nights at the Hamlin hospital and also visited the Paul Galeys of Hamlin Friday night.

The Galeys left for Dnton Sunday to visit her sister Mrs. J. L. Roden and her husband and will go to Dallas from there for Mrs. Galeys yearly report to a specialist, Dr. Wearie. Then they will go to Elmwood to visit Mr. Galeys' sister and on to College Station the latter part of the week to visit Mrs. Galeys' niece, Mrs. Jerry Crowley and Mr. Crowley.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carlton of Denton were lunch guests of the W. C. Carltons Monday. They also visited with other relatives.

Mrs. Edith Meinzer of Dallas spent two days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Orb Long and daughters. The Longs took her to Albany where she boarded a bus to return to her home. Ed Pritchard and Mr. Latimer of Abilene visited shortly with relatives here Saturday and Gregg and Cathy Pritchard returned home with him for a visit.

A pink and blue shower was given in the Tuxedo Baptist Church basement by the ladies of the church for their pastor's wife, Mrs. Benny Joe Walker of Abilene, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The table was covered with a white cloth and the centerpiece was of pink organdy, with two rows of double pink net ruffling and tiny white roses around the edge, and a small bassinet covered to match the centerpiece sat in the center of the cloth described above, in the bassinet was an arrangement of pink and blue flowers.

Sandra Gilbreath registered the guests from a pretty white book made by Mrs. Joe Carlton which was on a table covered with a pink organdy cloth.

The napkins had a pink and blue design on them. Mrs. Roy Williams ladeled pink punch from a white milk glass punch bowl and cookies with a pink center were served.

Mrs. Walter Osment had charge of the entertainment. Mrs. Joe Carlton and Mrs. Edwin Tacker gave readings and then a game was played after which, Mrs. Clyde Pritchard asked Margaret Lewis of Abilene to assist her in presenting the gifts to the honoree. Kate Carlton and Roseann Lewis also helped with games and gifts.

The only guest other than the ladies of the church, was our pastor's mother, Mrs.

"Completeness . . ." This has been called the most important factor in good advertising.

This means that advertising should tell the whole story in order to sell effectively. However, for advertising to be really complete it must be presented in a way by which the potential customer can retain the information.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodger French and children of Waxahachie visited Mr. and Mrs. A. J. French and sons through the week end and also other relatives.

Rev. and Mrs. Ed Lee and children of Los Angeles, California, returned here the fourth of July. They formerly lived here and he has been in Life Bible College there for three years. After completing his course there he received a call to the Rotan Foursquare Church.

Mrs. J. H. Rivers and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ross attended the Jones County singing Sunday afternoon.

Any person who has answered a classified advertisement knows about completeness in advertising. The want ads which include description, price, and address bring results which often amaze the advertisers. The advertisements which leave out vital information are too often passed up.

Classified advertisers and their customers quickly learn something else about completeness in advertising. A person does not retain information; he does not bother to write it down. The information remains in complete possession of the potential customer because he clips the advertisement or retains the whole want ad page until he has investigated an offer.

Thus, effective completeness is rarely ever possible in advertising unless information about a product is printed in a form which is retained and readily available for reference. From that standpoint no other medium compares to the local newspaper.

"The local newspaper is the only advertising medium which the typical housewife can quickly locate at anytime during the day or night and check information on any retail offering."

J. H. Wood, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, states the case as follows:

"The newspaper reader gets a completeness that no other medium can give him. These are not words passing through the air or across a picture tube. They are in black and white and permanently inscribed upon the record."

Jones County HD Clubs Here for Rally Day Friday

Fifty-seven women, representing 12 of the 13 Jones County Home Demonstration Clubs, gathered in the Hamlin Oil Mill Guest House for the first time for the annual Rally Day, Friday. This was the first time for the annual Rally Day, Friday.

Hostess clubs were the Good Neighbors Club of Nevada and the Friendship Club of Hamlin.

Highlights of the day were craft displays, cancer films, a shell exhibit and discussion, recreation and a preview of plans for the forth coming Jones County Fair was presented by two officials of the fair committee.

The various crafts displayed which were made by women of the clubs, included flower arrangements, stuffed animals, plastic poodles, dolls, aprons, decorative vases and candy dishes, ruffled net Christmas trees, stuffed pillows, fancy cushions, glittered and sequined pictures, unique purses, and many other things.

Two cancer films, made by the American Cancer Society, were shown by Mrs. Ethel Powell of Anson, Education chairman of Jones County Unit of the American Cancer Association. One film entitled "The Other City," stressed even danger signals of cancer, and the shocking number of people who die each year from the disease. The other film, "Time and Two Women," told the case histories of two women, one who neglected to seek help until too late and the other who had regular check-ups by the family physician. Although 1 out of every 10 women have cancer, the rate of cured cases is steadily increasing.

Homer Hutto and R. S. Praberry of Anson, directors of the Jones County Fair, gave the group a preview of the fair which is to be held August 25-26. They encouraged the ladies to work hard and have good entries as they had done in years past.

A unique and interesting shell collection was shown by Carl Young Jr., who is a member of a shell club in Corpus Christi and has done intensive study of the shells along the Texas coast. He gave some very enlightening information about their existence. In describing the members of the three kinds found on the Texas Gulf, the tusk, the bi-valve and the una-valve, he told of their living habits, why some are shaped in certain ways, where they are found, what they feed on, how their coloring is sometimes determined, how to determine the adult from the younger species in some shells and many other unusual facts that the average person would take for granted.

Also in his display were various trinkets made from collected shells.

Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young Sr., was a 1954 graduate of Hamlin High School and received his degree from Hardin-Simmons University in 1958. He recently completed a tour of duty in the army, spending 18 months in Germany. He will teach in the schools at Corpus Christi this fall.

His mother stated, "Carl has been collecting one thing or another all of his life. I guess you might just call him a collector."

Following the session the ladies were invited to tour the new home of Mrs. B. V. Newberry, Jones County Home Demonstration Agent.

THE POSTMAN IS UNLIKELY SUSPECT

Dear Amy:

I would like to know what our mail is coming to? I am paying a bank note and everybody in my street knows about it. Could it be that the postman tells his family and they tell others? But, Amy, I also would like the people in my street to know that I'm paying it for a friend whom I thought was a friend so I must have the means to get the money from the bank in the first place. They don't lend ANYBODY money on their looks.

Now, Amy, tell me please, are there any friends or neighbors left in this world? The next time someone asks me to borrow money for them I am going to hand them what I got struck with!

Small Town

Dear Small Town:
Don't blame the postman unless you have proof. His job is to deliver the letter not to divulge it. Tell your tale of woe to the biggest blabber-mouth in the neighborhood. SHE probably started it, so let her finish it.

Dear Amy:

I have a problem which I'm sure many wives have. It's a bad one concerning a drinking husband. I have tried to understand it and have talked to many people but they all seem to think it's not serious. They say talk to your Minister or get in touch with A.A. I have tried this and all they do is talk to me. I would like to know of someone who would come and talk to my husband. He has tried to do good but it only lasted a little over a year. Now things are getting out of hand again and all my talking to him does no good. The only ones who know what it's like are the wives who have the same problem. We don't want pity. We want our pride and the right kind of help . . . not the talking to we get but the talking to our husbands should get from the ones who know what it's all about. I'm sure there are others who feel the same.

I know there are people who visit the ones who need help, but when trying to find out who to call, it's like looking for a needle in a haystack. I have talked to the Minister, the A.A., the Police Chief, the Mayor and a number of other people whom I know can help in this matter. It's nothing but a waste of time and money to find anyone who will talk to my husband. I would like to know if there are such people who do help?

The ones who really suffer are the children. Their hopes and dreams of a happy home go down the drain. The embarrassment, the ridicule and the names called by other children who don't know what it is about leaves a lasting mark.

Thank you for reading this letter. There must be someone who knows what we wives can do to help our husbands.

In Need of Help

Dear In Need:
No person or organization can help your husband unless HE wants to be helped. Nagging him will do no good!

Alcoholics Anonymous will advise YOU how to handle HIM in the hopes that with the proper guidance, he will seek help. Go to them with this thought in mind. Then you will be helping your husband back on the road to sobriety and self-respect.

P.S. I have a story to tell you of how one wife licked this problem which is too lengthy for this column. Send me your address.

Dear Amy:

This is to the girl who signed herself 'Dorothy' who cries over a boy who broke up with her because she wouldn't go 'all the way'.

This girl has a screw loose. I suggest she go to someone who has some sense and have it tightened up . . . not her mother . . . as she evidently is as screwy as her daughter.

A Mother with 4 Teen-age Daughters

Dear Amy:

My husband has been gone nearly four years. I don't want to get a warrant for him for desertion because there was a misunderstanding between us. He has completely disappeared. I can find no trace of him and I love and want him very much. Can you tell me how I can go about finding him?

G.B.

Dear G.B.:

There must have been some misunderstanding. If you have drawn a blank through his friends and family, contact a reputable detective agency. They will find him for you.

OLD GLORY NEWS--

By HELEN DIERS

TREMENDOUS TRIFLES THE SPOILED CULTURE THAT PRODUCED PENICILLIN

Penicillin, man's most valuable microbe killer, was discovered entirely by accident. In the fall of 1928, Alexander Fleming, an English research worker, was growing cultures of staphylococcus microbes. These tiny creatures produce boils in human beings. To his dismay, he found that one of the plates on which the bacteria were growing had become contaminated by a mold which had been blown in through the window.

All the careful work Fleming had done was ruined. He must do everything over again. With a sigh he prepared to throw the contents of the plate away. He took one last look at his work and made an amazing discovery. The microbes were being dissolved by something in the mold!

Experiments revealed that penicillin, the substance he had discovered was three times as strong as carbolic acid. The great problem which prevented penicillin from becoming a valuable drug at the time was the fact that the microbe killing agent could not be isolated. This meant that to be effective, gallons of the drug would have to be administered to a patient. This made penicillin impractical in spite of its amazing power to kill bacteria, and its lack of harmful effect even when used in massive doses.

For ten years penicillin was forgotten because of this limitation. Just before the outbreak of World War II, the need again was felt for a powerful drug which would destroy bacteria without damaging human tissues. A brilliant group of research workers attacked the problem of isolating the important part of the mold. After many false starts and discouragements, they completed their task.

Penicillin became manufactured in tremendous quantities. During the war its qualities were very useful in saving lives. It was important in keeping the death rate due to injuries down to a record low.

In the beginning it was the happy accident of an open window, a migratory mold, and a spoiled culture that brought into prominence the valuable microbe-killing penicillin. If Fleming had carefully thrown away his culture, medicine would have suffered a great loss. Many human soldiers and many diseased children would not be alive today.

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

Hunting a Broken Quail Covey

Quail hunters following a broken covey that lights here and there as singles, often are puzzled to find that their dogs can't locate the birds, or blunder right smack-dab into them with no chance to stand.

This happens because:

(1) An alighting quail usually hits the ground running and ends up a "far piece" from the spot where it landed.

(2) Your dog can't smell such a bird out because the newly-grounded quail has air-washed its body in flight.

You can get around this by waiting patiently for about half an hour before going after the singles, this gives the birds time to regain the distinctive scent the dogs depend on.

Try Stuffed Goose Decoys

It may be too tough for your pocketbook, but if you own and use a flock of "stuffed" goose decoys, you'll get the geese when others don't. Some hunters claim fantastic luck when using such decoy substitutes as paper bags, handkerchiefs, etc., but the fact remains that a goose is a sharp-eyed critter and the more natural your decoy appears, the more likely geese are to come down to your pit.

Taxidermist - mounted decoys can't be beat. They must be handled with care, but are worth the extra trouble.

Or you may substitute skins that you yourself have stuffed with cotton, etc. These are inferior to the professional jobs, but they will surprise you by the number of geese they will decoy to your blind.

Stuffed decoys have been used by many sportsmen with great success.

Hunt Woodcock on Wet Days

Best woodcock hunting can be had on muggy, humid or downright wet days. The birds are more active then, and the scent lingers longer on the ground for your dog to nose out.

TELEPHONE TALK

STONE AGE?

Rosa Lee Scott, the attractive young lady in your business office, tells me fewer and fewer of our Hamlin customers are "living in the stone age." More and more of you are throwing out that old black telephone in the hall and are insisting on modern telephone service.

Rosa Lee keeps busy with her work and with civic affairs, but she always has time to "talk telephone." Why not call her or drop by?

PROXY MARRIAGE WITH A NEW TWIST

Today it's not unusual for a couple separated by many miles to be married by means of a long distance telephone call. But I recently heard about a marriage conducted in Fort Worth for a couple 5,000 miles away, in Germany, with a new angle.

When Dale Bennett and his fiancée were married in Konigsstein, Germany, his father, Rev. Harold O. Bennett, conducted the ceremony from his church in Fort Worth via overseas telephone. By means of special speakers installed in the church, family and friends could hear both ends of the conversation.

The speaker system was arranged by two telephone communications experts who also set up the overseas call. This may be the first marriage of this type in the world.

PUT MORE FUN IN YOUR TRIPS

One day last week an old friend stopped by to tell me about his vacation plans. He told me where he was going, what highways he'd take and where he'd be staying all along the way.

I asked him how he got everything worked out so well.

"It was easy," he said. "This year I made all my plans by phone. We have good accommodations for each night, and I know how much they cost. You just can't beat a phone call for finding out what you need to know."

That's a good idea for you, too, if you're planning a trip or vacation. You can save money by calling on Sundays or after 6 p.m. on weekdays when long distance rates are lower. And by calling station-to-station, you save as much as one-third more.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

SURVEY STARTED TO PICK AMERICA'S FAVORITE HYMN

What is America's favorite hymn?

The Herald today joins the Christian Herald, the nation's largest interdenominational Protestant magazine, and newspapers throughout the country, in a definitive survey
to determine the hymns America loves best.

A preliminary hymn poll, conducted last year, ended in a controversy between churchgoers who favored "The Old Rugged Cross" and others who named the contemporary gospel song, "How Great Thou Art." Our survey aims at settling the dispute.

The National Newspaper
Hymn Poll is open to Americans of all denominations.
Every reader of the Herald is invited to write the name of his favorite hymn or gospel song on the ballot printed with this article. In appreciation, the Herald and the Christian Herald will give each respondent the inspiring

miniature book, "Hymn Thoughts for the Day," by Bill McVey, the Christian Herald Singer. This attractive book contains favorite hymns and scripture reading for every day of the month.

Our local hymn poll is an important part of the nationwide survey. The National Newspapers Hymn Poll is being conducted by newspapers in cities of all sizes in every state. Its purpose is to find out which hymns Herald readers (and Americans everywhere) enjoy singing and hearing—as well as to encourage hymn singing in homes and churches throug-
out the country.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR RANCH MANAGEMENT PRACTICES

COLLEGE STATION—Summer management practices used on a ranch tend to carry over into fall and winter, and eventually determine whether or not a year was as profitable as it could have been. G.
O. Hoffman, extension range specialist, says there are several practices that should be carried out this summer, but which will provide benefits for the rest of the year.

One of the recommended
practices is deferred grazing.
On a pasture that has just received a rain, deferring allows native grasses to make rapid growth. Grasses can make seed in 4 to 6 weeks, but best results are obtained when the pasture is deferred all summer. It is also profitable to defer a pasture that has not had any rain. Native grasses need a rest once every 4 years in order to increase their vigor and re-establish their root system.

Another excellent way to relieve grazing pressure on permanent pastures is to use temporary pastures. Ranchers in the drier area of the state should also plan to reduce the stocking rate by culling unproductive animals. Hoffman continues. Livestock numbers should be blanced with the amount of grass on the pasture.

Water is necessary for good grass production, but in some areas of the state moisture is not too plentiful. It is therefore wise to make profitable
use of every bit of moisture available. One way to do this is to construct diversion terraces, known as "throw-outs,"
to divert the run-off water from roadside ditches onto the pasture. The added water will grow lots of grass, says the

Ned Moore Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Moore Sr., will attend the 8th annual A & M College Y M C A Freshman
camp to be held September 9-12 at Camp Asbury and Camp Wesley, near Palestine, Texas.

There will be 100 select freshmen, 25 upperclassmen and 6 faculty members at each camp, who will join with them in discussion, recreation, fun and fellowship.

specialist. Another way is to control brush growing in the draws, creek bottoms and overflow areas. These productive range sites will produce good when the brush is taken off.

Something else to watch for this summer is poisonous plants. These pests should be controlled so as to keep livestock losses to a minimum.

Hoffman says that under present conditions, ranchmen should carry out only those range practices which require very little cash outlay. He also recommends using the cost-sharing programs to help carry out the ranch improvement program.
